The Hunters of Kentucky.

Ye gentlemen and ladies fair.
Who grace this famous city.
Just listen, if you've time to spare,
Walle I rehearse a ditty;
And for an opportunity,
Conceive yourselves quite lucky,
For 'tis not often here you see
A hunter from Kentucky.
Oh, Kentucky! the hunters of Kentucky!
The hunters of Kentucky!

We are a hardy, free-born face— Each man to fear a stranger; Whate'er the game, we join in chase, Despising toil and danger; And if a daring foe annoy, Whate'er his strength and forces; We'll show him that Kentucky boys Are "alligator horses."

Oh, Kentucky! etc.

I s'pose you've read it in the prints
How Packenham attempted
To make Old Hickory Jackson wince;
But soon his schemes repented.
For we, with rifles ready cocked,
Thought such occasion lucky,
And soon around the General flocked
The hunters of Kentucky.
Oh, Kentucky! etc.

You've heard, I s'pose, how New Orlean Is famed for wealth and beauty; There's girls of every hue, it seems, From snowy-white to soot; So Packenham he made his brags; If he in fight way, lucky, He'd have the girls and cotton-bags, In spite of old Kentucky. Oh, Kentucky! etc.

But Jackson, he was wide awake,
And wasn't scared at trifles:
For well he knew what alim we tak
With our Kentucky rifles.
So he led us down to Cypress swamp,
The ground was low and murky.
There stood John Bull in martial pomp
Andshere was old Kentucky.
Oh, Kentucky! etc.

A bank was raised to hide our breast;
Not that we thought of dying.
But that we always like to rest,
Unless the game is flying.
Behind it stood our little force—
None wished it to be greater,
For every man was half a horse
And half an slikator.
Oh, Kentucky! etc.

They did not let our patience tire
Before they showed their faces;
We did not choose to waste our fire,
So snugly kept our places.
But, when so near to see them wink,
We thought it time to stop 'em;
And 'twould have done you good, I think,
To see Kentucklans drop 'em.
Oh, Kentucky! etc.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, February 13.—Wheat received transitory relief from the monotony caused by dulness and heavy declining prices, when, about the middle of the session. Liverpool reported an advance of 14-40-2c., corn also throwing some of its strength into the market. There was but scant encouragement for the bulls, taking everything as a whole, and the temporary relief proved unavailing and unsubstantial.

There was considerable gossip from Argentine to-day. One report gave out that the exportable supply now available in that country was 1500,000 tons. The Argentine Consul at New York was quoted as stating that 1,000,000 tons was probably a fair estimate. New York exporters had private mall advices from Liverpool, stating that up to January 21st eighty steamers had been chartered to carry grain from Argentine. Bradstreet's report of a decrease in the world's visible supply of 508,000 bushels of wheat was disappointing, and was the occasion of a major portion of the late selling, the pressure of which weakened the market at the close.

May wheat opened at from 3 5-8 to 53 1-5c., sold between 53 3-407-8c, and 331-4c., closing at 53 3-8c.—1-4 under Monday, Cash wheat was steady.

Corn—The trading in corn was depressingly dull during the early hours of the session, most of the business being of a local scalping order, and very light at that. About the middle of the session there was a unantmous movement by shorts to cover up their trades, St. Louis reporting a sale of 203-00 bushels of cash corn for shipment east, and at the same time sending buying orders in this market. Before the close prices stood off some from the top. May corn opened at 41-2c, sold between 43-8c, and 45-8c, closed at 44-7-86/46c—1-467-8c, higher than Monday, Cash corn was 1-691-2c, per bushel lower.

Outs—The fluctuations in outs seemed to take place under protect. It was a dull trade, without feature, and absolutely uninteresting. The variations were in accord with those of the larger markets. Bradstreet reported a decrease of 703-00 hushels in stocks. May closed 1-801-6c, higher than on Monday, Cash outs were easy, and 1-2c, per bushel lower.

Provisions were firm and higher, the run of hogs was light, and the market at the yards both yesterday and to-day was higher. The feeling was extended into the product-trade, prices maintaining a firm tone throughout. The packers bought fair quantities and the shorts did a moderate amount of covering. Liverpool was easy. The domestic markets were quet and firm.
